HANNOVER, West Germany (AP) — Tributes poured in this week from churchmen in many lands to Bishop Hanns Lilje, internationally influential figure in world Christianity who died of a heart attack Jan. 6 at 77.

A Lutheran, he took a key role in the founding of the Lutheran World Federation and also of the World Council of Churches, established in 1948 as a main force in the ecumenical movement for Christians, commented another noted founder and its long-time chief executive, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft. said that "no peace is possible many, Bishop Lilje was approval of Russia. among leaders of the Confessing Church which defied Nazi president of the Rabbinical

Church again rejects ordination

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich (AP) - For the fifth time, regional units of the Reformed Church in America have refused to ratify a national convention action to approve the ordination of women. A majority of the regional bodies approved, but by a narrow margin, the measure failed to get the two-thirds required for such a change. The 360,000-member denomination is of the Dutch Reformed tradition, akin to Presbyterians, who allow ordination of women.

Canons revised

VATICAN CITY (AP)

Study groups of clergy and lay experts charged with revising the present 2,414 canons (laws) of the Roman Catholic Code of Canon Law have completed their work, and the results now are being sent to the world's bishops for their evaluation. That process is expected to take another year, before work on a final draft his wife home.

"Lord Avon was an eternal Englishman," a close friend said. "He had told his family that if he looked like he were dying they must do all they could to see he died in Britain.'

He is survived by his second wife, Clarissa, a niece of Sir Winston Churchill, whom he married in 1952, and one son by his first marriage, Viscount Eden, 46, who succeeds to his title. His first wife, whom he divorced in 1950, died of cancer of the liver in 1957, and their elder son was killed in World War II.

Born June 12, 1897, Robert Anthony Eden was a baronet's younger son whose ancestors included a governor of colonial Maryland. He went to France as a soldier of 18, survived World War I as the youngest brigade major in the British army, won the Military Cross and lost two of his brothers on the battlefields. His experiences gave Eden a hatred of war and a profound understanding of military force as an instrument of national power.

After the war he went to Oxford, studied Persian and Arabic, graduated with top honors and developed a lifelong interest in the Middle East.

Eden lost his first race for the House of Commons in 1922 but won a year later in the constituency of Warwick and Leamington. His rise in politics was rapid: undersecretary for foreign affairs in his early 30s, lord privy seal at 37, minister of state for League of Nations affairs at 37 and foreign secretary at 38, in 1935.

Eden was a diplomat of great skill and a man of sturdy charcter who argued for rearmament and a firm stand against Mussolini and Hitler

When Prime Minister Neville Chamberlin refused to adopt such a stance, Eden resigned and retired to the sidelines. The outbreak of World War II By mail elsewhere: 1 year $32.00; 6 months vindicated him, and Churchill make him foreign secretary again, launching their long and close association.

Prosecutor urges conviction

Anderson pointed to testimony from two law enforcement officers who said Miss Longet told them the night of the shooting she was joking with Sabich when the .22-caliber pistol she was holding went off.

The court recessed after defense attorney Charles V. Weedman said his final argument probably would last "the better part of two hours." Anderson spoke about 25 minutes.

The two officers agreed Miss Longet told them she playfully raised the gun at Sabich as he was showing her how to use it. One officer quoted Miss Longet as saying she told her lover "boom, boom" before the gun went off. The other used the words "bang, bang."

Miss Longet said Sabich told her the gun's safety mechanism was on, but ballistics experts testified the safety was

District Court Judge George E. Lohr instructed the jury it could also find the 35-year-old Miss Longet guilty on a lesser charge of criminally negligent homicide. State officials are upset over check theft

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) -Missouri officials have warned bankers learned of the missing checks earlier this and merchants in the state to exert caution when cashing certain types of state checks after the discovery of the suspected theft of 2,000 checks from the state Department of Social Services.

Gov. Joseph P. Teasdale, in his third news conference in as many days, called the theft of the checks a "potentially serious situation." Flanked by four other state officials, Teasdale said he has ordered the department to discontinue the issuance of the unnumbered type of checks which were believed stolen.

"I was a little nonplussed over the fact that there were blank checks in such large quantities, not merely hundreds but thousands of checks," said James Walsh, the newly appointed Social Services Department director. "We within blank checks.

Rhoden told reporters that at a lengthy "grilling session" in Ogden, Utah, on Wednesday, Dummar admitted bringing the will to the Salt Lake City headquarters of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon.)

Claims for the document's authenticity had been generally discounted after reports that the FBI found Dummar's fingerprint on it.

Dummar, at that time, denied the report and suggested the print was planted. But Rhoden said Dummar admitted to him that his fingerprints would probably be all over the will because he

Former CIA agent may have leaked data

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. intelligence sources say the Central Intelligence Agency believes that Philip Agee, one of the agency's former agents, disclosed to the Russians the existence of a large NATO spy ring operating under British control in Poland, Newsday reported

The ring included some of the most prominent figures in Poland and was broken up in June 1975 by Soviet KGB (secret police) agents and Polish counterintelligence, Newsday said. British intelligence helped some members of the ring get out of Poland before it was smashed, the newspaper said, while other members were arrested

New procedures get approval

(AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission, a majority of its members under fire for alleged anticonsumerism, has approved a second set of mandatory billing and service procedures, these dealing with the telephone utilities.

Termed a "consumer bill of rights for the telephone industry," the standards approved on Thursday will undergo two months of public hearings and scrutiny after being filed with the secretary of state.

Following the hearings and any written comments from consumers or utilities, the five-member commission will review its proposal for final implementation

"I don't think there'll be many changes," said Commissioner Hugh Sprague. "But there's no way to really know until we really get into

The standards are similar to those adopted by the PSC more than a year ago setting up mandatory procedures for billing and service activities of gas, electric and water companies. But those standards have yet to be implemented because of court challenges by utilities; which claim they violate their authority to make management decisions. The case is pending in Cole County Circuit Court.

'I hope the telephone companies won't take the posture that the gas, water and electric companies have and go running straight to court," said Commissioner James Mulvaney, who developed both sets of standards and is working on a third for sewer

Should the hearings, which begin Feb. 14 in Jopiin, and final consideration by the commission go as scheduled, all 53 telephone companies in the state would have to be in 608 S. Ohio compliance with the new standards by the end of this year unless granted an exemption from some or all of

> The only place they come close to the mark is when they call Proxmire a publicity hound.

There's nothing racist about his assaults on people picked by the President to run the nation's housing and urban development programs. On Jan. 28, 1975, I wrote the following:

Proxmire wound up with the egg on his face lighting up the TV screens of America, which is what he deserved. Because he was coming on like one of those super white liberals who constantly massage their egos by pretending that every black who gets 15 bucks in the bank quickly turns his or her back on the wretched residents of the ghetto.

Proxmire is right. That record is incredible and pathetic. But what we had better face is the reality that he can't blame that just on Carla Hills or James Lynn. No secretary of HUD can do much to change that record when the president of the United States declares a moratorium on federally subsidized housing, as Richard Nixon did in 1973, or when a president has no positive interest in producing housing for poor people, as was the case with Jerry Ford.

Personal slants At home for the holidays

By DOUG KNEIBERT

Going down home for the holidays was; as usual, and ordeal - you can't hardly get there from here. If they ever build another highway in Missouri, I'm for a diagonal route: from northwest to

Poplar Bluff, or just plain "the Bluff" as it's known thereabouts, is the northwest gateway to the Bootheel. For better than 20 years it was home to me, and I still find it a nice place to visit every now

Like Sedalia, Poplar Bluff (named for a one-time poplar forest at the base of the Black River bluff) owes much of its development to the Missouri Pacific, which in that area was originally known as the St. Louis, Iron Mountain, and Southern Railway.

Today, Poplar Bluff must be the traffic capital of the Midwest. It is possible to wait for days trying to pull out onto Highway 67, which feeds a steady stream of cars and trucks both north and south through the town. That's progress, I guess.

This strip also has become wall-to-wall shopping center. The dense pine forest that used to enclose the highway on both sides has been steadily eaten away to make room for several square miles of asphalt. The stately old Jeffries home that was nestled in the woods now sits on an island in the middle of one shopping center. They tried to turn it into a seafood house (seafood in Poplar Bluff?) at one time, but this didn't work out

Downtown is in trouble, and the town just completed a large parking garage to try to lure shoppers back. However, the blight has gotten a foothold and will be hard to reverse, I'm afraid.

But for the most part, the Bluff is a going concern, having been named an All-American City a year or so ago. New housing is popping up all over the place, and the town even has a couple of highrise public housing complexes.

The 40 acres behind home are even beginning to be honeycombed with subdivisions. I used to be able to fire a .22 in a 360-degree circle in these woods, but no more. 'Cycle trails criss-cross what at one time was pristine ground.

I am happy to report that the old home town is still the barbecue capital of the world. Roy Hayden fixed me up a couple of his specials, which were as good as ever. Roy's not bothered by a franchise barbecue joint that moved in out on the highway; especially, he said, after he sent out one day for one of their sand-

It had probably been close to 20 years since I had seen my cousin Dick. We recalled the old days when the whole clan would gather for Christmas dinner at my grandmother's home in Mauldin. The spread was something to behold, we agreed: roast beef, turkey, ham, chicken, shrimp, dressings, assorted salads, your choice of several vegetables and you-name-it in pies and cakes. Of course, it helped that my grandmother was in the grocery business.

> The extra money, a White House aide told us bitterly, would have put the Presihim the election. At least in the key state of Ohio, GOP strategists suggested, the money could have made a difference.

The $1.7 million went unspent, ironically, because of the President's determination to keep his campaign free of any Watergate-style financial abuses. At secret meetings in Washington during September, the Ford strategists carefully analyzed the new election law.

It allowed both candidates to spend $21.8 million of their own campaign funds. But the Republicans had come up with another $3.2 million which could be spent, quite legally, by the President's campaign committee.

The money came out of the till of the Republican National Committee. But Ford's campaign chief, Jim Baker, prudently insisted that up to $750,000 should be held back to make sure the President didn't exceed the legal limit.

So the spending rate was kept down. The Ford campaign, meanwhile, began to pick up momentum. As the President gained on Jimmy Carter in the polls, the Republican National Committee urged

> At the Republican National Committee, a spokesman said bluntly that, "We had it available to be spent." The implication was that the President's campaign committee had been too miserly.

A spokesman for the campaign committee acknowledged: "We were disappointed we didn't spend the budgeted amounts. We were conscious of the requirements of the new law and the excesses of the past. We wanted to be damned certain we were within it.'

It was pure conjecture, he added, to blame Ford's defeat on the $1.7 million miscalculation

Sacred Heart stops LaMonte

The Sacred Heart Gremlins, powered by a furious scoring attack, embarrassed a young LaMonte Viking squad 92-49 Thursday night at Sacred Heart gymnasium.

Sacred Heart forward Mel Simon led Gremlin scorers with 16 points, while four of his teammates also tallied in double

Perhaps the most gratifying aspect of the lopsided victory for Gremlin head coach Tom Jennewein was the poise displayed by his substitutes in the final stanza.

With the game all but over after three quarters, senior Dan Fall and junior Steve Grieshaber came from the bench and combined for 18 points.

"Grieshaber played a good ballgame," Jennewein said. "He has a little trouble with his passing sometimes, but he's been improving all along. He played one fine ballgame.

The Gremlins capitalized on 16 LaMonte turnovers to surge to a 41-23 lead at the half. But Sacred Heart set the tone of the game early as center Brad Nicholson hit two quick baskets, putting Sacred Heart on top for good. The 6-3 senior finished the evening with 14 points, although he sat out the final stanza with the rest of the Gremlin starting squad.

Two freshmen and two sophomores started for the Vikings, and according to Jennewein, "their lack of experience showed on the floor.'

The Sacred Heart scoring machine continued humming after half-time. Mel Simon's 7 points widened the Gremlins' lead to 30 midway through the third quarter.

A stingy full-court press held the Vikings to 13 points in that quarter, while the Gremlins poured in 26.

Then, with the Gremlin starters warming the bench, Fall and Grieshaber sustained Sacred Heart's momentum through the final stanza.

Sacred Heart improved its season record to 8-6, while the Vikings fell to 2-14.

In junior varsity action, Sacred Heart continued its winning ways, downing the Viking JV squad 40-9. The jayvee Gremlins are 7-0 on the season. David Fall led Sacred Heart scorers with 9 points, followed by David Trotter with 7.

In girls basketball, Sacred Heart beat LaMonte 48-20. Linda Day was the high scorer for the Gremlins, tallying 14 points. Janice Dooley scored 13 and Jo Lynn Register 12 for Sacred Heart.

When North Carolina plays pasketball, they employ a mixed bag of tricks.

The Tar Heels throw such intriguing ploys at the opposition as the run-and-jump defense, the point zone and the mixing of pressure defenses.

It is enough to drive teams dizzy - and seventh-ranked Wake Forest got caught in this wild traffic Thursday night. "Carolina is a fine team.

Solicitation for arson is charged

BELLEVILLE, III. (AP) -A Belleville fire insurance adjuster has been charged in warrants with solicitation to commit arson, police said.

Charged Thursday by the St. Clair County state's attorney's office was James V. Gemmingen, 46.

Authorities said that Gemmingen allegedly offered to pay an undercover agent to set fire to a St. Louis apartment building.

He was released after posting $30,000 bond, police

Also taken into custody in connection with the arson scheme was a 51-year-old National City man. But he was not formally charged, the Illinois Bureau of Investigation

Agents said the arrests are believed to break up an arsonfor-hire ring that had been operating in St. Louis and in Illinois.

Further arrests may be made, authorities said.

Polly's pointers

Can stretching save blouse?

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY - Believe it or not when I had the flu last year I found that a lowly little bottle of smelling salts was of the greatest help when I found it hard to breathe. -

DEAR POLLY - On a recent trip from Cleveland to Boston we discovered a marvelous space saver in the car that made for a more comfortable trip as well. We unrolled those bulky sleeping bags and stretched them out on the back seat. This made the back seat the choice spot in the car. - JANIS

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — A crinkled gauze blouse was inadvertently washed with permanent-press clothes and put in the dryer. It shrunk a size or two. I wonder if there is any way I can stretch it to the original size again. - JEAN

DEAR JEAN — I have stretched sweaters the following way and you might try the same with your blouse. Put it in cold water until thoroughly wet and roll in a towel to absorb most of the water. Measure your chair backs until you find one that measures about what the blouse should measure around. Cover chair back with waxed paper and slip fastened blouse over it. Leave until thoroughly dry. Be sure the chair, floor and so on are protected from any drips or dampness. Good luck to you. - POLLY.

Expensive resorts lure many farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) -Many farm organizations and sion at that meeting. agricultural groups have their annual meetings in the cold winter months but some of them, despite complaints of prices of wheat and other commodities being too low, are making things tolerable by heading for expensive resort areas in sunny climes.

The big American Farm Bureau Federation, for example, held its annual meeting this week in Honolulu where delegates talked of many issues, including what Federation President Allan Grant called "the growing problem of labor monopoly' in agriculture.

Down in tropical San Juan, Puerto Rico, this week, the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives heard Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., say Agriculture Secretary-designate Bob Bergland will be "capable and qualified" in his new job with the Carter administration.

Dole also said "farm prices are too low" and noted that wheat sold for $2.39 a bushel in December against $4.65 two years ago

The National Association of Wheat Growers will hold its annual meeting Jan. 18-24 in Honolulu, practically in the same sand warmed by the Farm Bureau people this week

If the wheat growers choose, they can follow their Honolulu meeting with group tours to the South Pacific and other points being promoted by the association's pre-convention meeting in off-shore tropical resorts, however. The National Grange, for example, held its annual meeting last November in Atlantic City, N.J., and the National Farmers' Organization met in mid-December in Milwaukee,

The American National Cattlemen's Association will head for Atlanta, for its annual meeting Jan. 31 through Feb. 4, and the National Farmers' Union will meet March 5-9 in San Antonio, Tex.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The American Forage and Grassland Council wants the Agriculture Department to overhaul its hay-grading system so the grades can more accurately reflect feed

As proposed recently, there will be five grades instead of about 150 now used by USDA which are based on visible characteristics.

The council said it wants hay grading to be based on chemical analysis reflecting protein content, digestibility by animals and "neutral detergent fiber," indicators which can help predict how much an animal will eat.

"The one drawback to the proposed new grades is the laboratory turnaround time required to conduct chemical analysis," the council said in a

But "the problem will be solved" ultimately, the council said. New methods of analysis already have been developed and research is being continued.

Even so, the council said it

Deja vu

I just saw a segment of Charlie's Angels in which one of the girls was accidentally shot by a retarded boy Is it coincidental or intentional that it was the same story, with minor differences, that was on Mod Squad years earlier? - Kell Brookside, Oxnard, Calif.

It wasn't a coincidence. Very often a story from the "files" (both series have the same producer) will be dusted off and rewritten. Also, an author can redo a story and resell it, so long as it is known it is a rewrite. The basic pilot remains the same, details and fringe characters are changed.

Television is a very repetitious medium and a voracious user of material.
